

My name is Claudia Weiss and I am the Chairperson of the Communications Committee for the Arizona Association of School Psychologists. I am also the Editor of the Intervention, AASP's newsletter.

I earned an EdS in School Psychology at Florida State University. I worked in Florida, New Hampshire, and Tennessee before moving to Arizona in 2003. I am currently employed by the Agua Fria Union High School District. I have served AASP in various roles over the years: President, Secretary, Professional Development Chairperson, and CPD Chairperson. I have stayed active in the association for so long because I love staying connected with amazing school psychologists from all around the state. When I am not working (for AASP or otherwise) I enjoy reading, travelling, and spending time with my family.
